It is all challenging perform when you happen to be also trying to run a higher-growth corporation, but possessing a double bottom line is one thing we believe is not only doable but makes us significantly stronger. My co-founder has been hosting exclusive conversations about how to advocate for oneself in a virtual globe and how to combat burnout to the girls employed by our corporate partners. Regardless of companies' efforts to support ??? workers throughout the crisis, women are feeling additional exhausted, burned out, and below pressure than men are, according to the 2020 Girls in the Workplace study. This suggests that firms want to do more to adjust the norms and expectations that lead to these feelings.
