I assume you staked with binance futures because it felt safer or something. You're welcome to stake with us at Blocks United. Please know that no validator binance futures ever takes custody of your tokens. They're held in a smart contract on the blockchain. That's how you're able to unbond or redelegate even if they're offline. Staking with validator bitcoin #3 is no safer than staking with validator #138.

Intermediate Verification supports Binance's Know Your Customer (KYC) and Anti-Money Laundering (AML) efforts as part of the organization's redoubling of efforts to further enhance user protection and binance futures risk management protocols.

Our vision is to create a sustainable ecosystem that is safe for bitcoin all participants. Our CEO, CZ said: "User protection is an integral part of our DNA and core values.
